"TOOK" PREACHER'S CROP AWAY FROM HIM

Tobacco Buyers Had a Little Fun With Popular Paint Lick Parson But Paid Him Well For It.

High prices are still the rule instead of the exception at the Home Warehouse, where they are selling today again. From all over the state come reports of advancing prices and tobacco growers are in their glory. It seems that the end of the war has had nothing to do with tobacco prices for many thought that peace would see tobacco slump.

W. S. Judy, buyer for the R. J. Revfirm, is out again, after several for confinement. Some of the boys on the breaks say that Judy is so tough a nut that the flu gave it up as a bad job after only a few days' tussle with him.

The "boys" gave Rev. W. M. Elchurch, a few anxious minutes the his crop rather carefully, so when the the advantage of us ordinary mortals Europe. a that they get up in their pulpits every Sunday and 'lay out' the rest of us and we've got no 'come-back' in the world, nor a chance to catch even with them." Mr. Kincaid then said the tobacco fellows usually come in for a little more than their share of the preachers' attention and that he'd never seen a chance before to get even, but here was one at last, and he did not want the boys to overlook it. He pointed to Dr. Eldridge's tobacco and to Dr. Eldridge as one of the preachers who ought to be taught a Suddenly, things changed however, and the boys started going. When the crop was finally sold, it had averaged right around 45 cents a pound and Dr. Eldridge who is said to be something of a practical joker himself, evidently was willing to be made few moments.

But everybody is pleased with the its friends these days. Here are a 135 at 59c; 280 at 48c. few of the prices that were paid yesterday over its breaks:
